

394

ARBOGAST briefly had EUGENIUS, a former teacher of rhetoric devoted as emperor in the West (USURPER)
but their forces were defeated by the eastern emperor in 394

Eugenius was set up by
by ARBOGASTES.

Theodosius fought him at AQUILEIA & he was killed

ARBOGASTES committed suicide

394-395

1912 Dates J-BK

Theodosius again reunited
the Roman Empire.

When Theodosius tried to put down the usurpation of Eugenius by force of arms, the Gothic federates followed his command.

Alois led the Gothic Confederates. He was placed under command of GRATINUS, who was a fellow-tribesman of Alois's but had "no lineage

394

the Roman Empire is finally divided between sons of Theodosius.

The Olympian games are abolished

394

Theodosius briefly reunited
the Roman Empire.

394

Theodosius I (the Great) led a second army into Italy in 394 to overthrow EUGENIUS and ARBOGAST—murderer of VALENTINIAN II.

394

Terwingi - Vesi (Visigoths)

More casualties among the Gothic federates in the battle
of FRIGIDUS

middle of winter 394/395

All of Thrace was ravaged by Hunnic hordes. This was the 1st time the Huns had crossed the Danube in large numbers. That winter the river was so thickly frozen that the invaders could attack & return
across the ice.

This

Sept 5, 46, 394

Theodosius defeated the usurper Eugenius: The battle took place at the FRIGIDUS - VIPAVA, left tributary of the ISONZO.

The 1st day of battle ended with dreadful losses to Theodosius's vanguard, which was composed of Goths. Half of them are said to have been killed. Nevertheless they remained with the combined Roman army, at least after Jan. 17, 395, that is, after the death of Theodosius.

It was Stilicho who eventually discharged them.

Before the end of Jan. 395, they began their march home undoubtedly under Alaric's leadership.